The Honorable Frank D. Lucas

If you look very closely at my official bio, I am a farmer who is a Member of Congress, not a Member of Congress who is a farmer—a very important distinction.

Congressman Frank Lucas is a fifth generation Oklahoman whose family has lived and farmed in Oklahoma for more than 100 years. Born on January 6, 1960 in Cheyenne, Oklahoma, Lucas graduated from Oklahoma State University in 1982 with a degree in Agricultural Economics. He was first elected to the United States House of Representatives in a special election in 1994.

Lucas proudly represents Oklahoma's Third Congressional District, which includes all or portions of 32 counties in northern and western Oklahoma, stretching from the Oklahoma Panhandle to parts of Tulsa, and from Yukon to Altus in the Southwest. It takes up almost ½ the state's land mass and is one of the largest agricultural regions in the nation.

As a lifelong farmer and rancher, Lucas has been a strong voice for American farmers and a central figure in shaping agricultural policy in Congress. In 2011, he made history as the first Oklahoman to ever be elected as Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture.

Under his leadership, the Agricultural Act of 2014, otherwise known as the farm bill, was enacted. This law marked a new era of farm and food policy that valued saving money, reforming and repealing government programs, and yet still providing an effective safety net for the production of our national food and fiber supply and for those Americans who are struggling.

Congressman Lucas also serves on the Committee on Financial Services and as Vice Chair on the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology.

Prior to his service in the U.S. Congress, Lucas served for nearly 6 years in the Oklahoma State House of Representatives where he fought to defend the rights of private property owners and focused on promoting agriculture issues.

Frank and his wife Lynda have three children and two grandchildren. The Lucas family belongs to the First Baptist Church in Cheyenne.

REMARKS OF HON. JIM DUNLAP

Master of Ceremonies

The ceremony began at 4:54 p.m. in Room 1300, Longworth House Office Building.

Mr. DUNLAP. Ladies and gentlemen, if we could, I know it is amazing, but we are going to start on time for a government operation here tonight.

My name is Jim Dunlap, and for the past 2 years I have been honored to be part of this night coming and the dedication of this portrait. And to let you know how I got this assignment, 27 years ago I was assigned to the back row of the Oklahoma House of Representatives desk alongside a guy named Frank Lucas, and we immediately became close personal friends. And tonight it is truly a great honor to be with you here to celebrate his service to our State.

It is only appropriate that we would start any event here with an invocation. And, with that, I would like to call on the Honorable K. Michael Conaway to give us our invocation.

INVOCATION

Honorable K. Michael Conaway

The CHAIRMAN. Please join me in a prayer.

Dear Heavenly Father, we thank you, Lord, for the multitude of blessings that you have bestowed upon our country. We ask, Lord, that we continue to be worthy of those blessings as we seek to do your will within this world.

Thank you for the responsibilities that we have here on the Agriculture Committee. Thank you for Frank Lucas' leadership of the last 6 years. Lord, we ask for wisdom and guidance, that we may govern this great Nation. Forgive us where we fail thee, Jesus.

We ask these things in your precious name. Amen.

Mr. DUNLAP. All right.

Tonight I would like to thank our sponsors—they are listed in your program—who have helped to put this event together and the portrait of course. But, more importantly, I think the people I would like to introduce first is the family of Frank Lucas.

Joining us tonight, Julie O'Neil, his sister, with her husband, Randy, and their children, Caitlyn and John; Frank's mom, Brilla Lucas, is with us here tonight; his daughters, Jessica McDaniel and her daughter, Lauren, who you will meet again in a few moments; daughter Ashlea Yager, her husband, Nehemiah, and their son, Tristan, who is just in a crib; and his son, Grant. And Grant I saw born, so I know that Grant has never known his father not in public office. And, truly, his family has given so much to the State of Oklahoma and to its country.

But who has given more than most is his wife, Lynda.

And, Lynda, we truly do appreciate everything you have done for us.
[Applause.]

Mr. DUNLAP. I was going to go into some great stories about Frank because I have known him for 27 years. If any of you want them later, you can call on me.

But it is a very great honor for me to very quickly get to the special guest of honor tonight, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, Congressman John Boehner.

[Applause.]

REMARKS OF SPECIAL GUEST THE HONORABLE JOHN A.
BOEHNER

SPEAKER, U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Speaker BOEHNER. Well, let me just say a big welcome to all of you, a big welcome to our colleagues, past and present. And we even have a couple of Senators over here. But welcome to all of you.

And, Frank, it is good to be here. And it is good that Lynda is here, still putting up with you. I know who puts up with who here, and I know who is in charge.

But, listen, I remember over 20 years ago when Frank won a special election in Oklahoma and started something that no one would have ever believed would turn out the way it did.

But I remember, when Frank got here and got on the Agriculture Committee, he had to deal with me. I spent 16 years here on the Committee. Frankly, I learned more than I ever thought I ever wanted to know about agriculture.

And, at one point, Frank was—he kept looking at me like I had rocks in my head. I was kind of a free market guy, and Frank wasn't.

[Laughter.]

Speaker BOEHNER. I had to teach Frank a few things along the way, some of which he learned from, others he just ignored. Probably smart on his part.

And then, at one point, there was this rumor going around that I was going to leave the Education and Workforce Committee and come back and be the chair of the House Agriculture Committee. And Frank came to me one day and said, "This isn't true, is it?" No, it is not.

[Laughter.]

Speaker BOEHNER. I see we have some former chairmen here: Mr. Roberts, who I served under; and I see Mr. Peterson over here and the current chairman, Mr. Conaway.

But, listen, Frank, as you all know, is a great Member. He listens, he works hard. He gets along with people, works on both sides of the aisle. And I am really proud of the job that he has done. We have been friends for a long time and have done an awful lot of really good things together.

Now, if I had told him it was going to take 2½ years to pass a farm bill, he probably would have shot me. If somebody had told me it was going to take 2½ years to pass a farm bill, I would have shot myself.

[Laughter.]

Speaker BOEHNER. And Frank and I understood each other. Just, we had too many people who got in the way who knew nothing about a farm bill.

But I really do appreciate how Frank persevered, and persevered through all the hoops he had to jump through in order to finally get the farm bill passed. But I knew, with his work, it would happen.

And so congratulations to you, Frank. And, on behalf of the House, it is my pleasure to accept this portrait that we are going to see at some point into the House Gallery.

Thank you all for being here.

[Applause.]

Mr. DUNLAP. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Frank is humbled by this attendance. I know Stacy has been going crazy all day trying to make sure how we were going to fit everybody in here, and it is a wonderful honor that everybody is here tonight.

The Speaker mentioned the Honorable Collin C. Peterson, Ranking Member of the House Committee on Agriculture, and I would like to have him come to the podium to make a few remarks himself.

[Applause.]

REMARKS OF THE HONORABLE COLLIN C. PETERSON

Mr. PETERSON. Thank you very much, and I appreciate the invitation to be here. Frank said I have to say some good things about him. That is a tough job. No.

[Laughter.]

Mr. PETERSON. Frank and I go back—well, I was here when he came in 1994. And we started to get to know each other on the Bob Smith world tour. And some of you remember Chairman Smith, who was Chairman for 2 years, and he did a lot of traveling. Bob, Frank, and I were on a number of those trips, and Lynda, and got to know each other a little bit. The Speaker was on one of them.

So we started off getting to know each other that way. We have districts that are very similar. He has 32 counties; I have 38. He has ½ of Oklahoma; I have ½ of Minnesota. It took him three elections to get elected to the State house; it took me three elections to get elected to Congress. And we are both farm kids. I guess 100 years, more than 100 years in your family—fifth-generation farmer. Our family started farming in 1892, I think it was, in the Red River Valley in Minnesota.

And the one thing that being in agriculture back in the fifties, sixties, taught you was perseverance. And, I had to have perseverance to get the 2008 Farm Bill done. It took a year and a half. Frank had to have perseverance to get the 2014 Farm Bill done. It took 2½ years.

And, Mr. Conaway, I don't know. Good luck.

[Laughter.]

Mr. PETERSON. It gets harder and harder, it seems like, to get these farm bills done because there are fewer and fewer of us that represent rural America and farm districts. Probably only about 40 of us.

And even in Minneapolis, 30 years ago, everybody was kind of one generation off the farm, and they understood what goes on. Now, 54 percent of the people in Minneapolis-Saint Paul are from out of State, and it is just a whole different world that we have to deal with.

So it is harder and harder, but Frank did an outstanding job. When he first got to be Chairman, it took us 2 or 3 months to iron out the wrinkles and get the staffs to figure out how to work together, but we got through that. And, after that, we really didn't have any problems. And if it had been up to Frank and I, that bill would have got done in 6 months.

[Laughter.]

Mr. PETERSON. It was all the outside forces that came in that we had to deal with. And I had to deal with that when I was Chairman, as well.

Frank just did a masterful job. He is a great Member, as John said. He listens to people; he works hard. And his heart is in the right place. He represents the people that sent him here to Washington, and what he believes and what they care about ends up in the legislation that he works on.

We also have the Chairman and the Ranking Member, who were vice versa when we did the farm bill, with us as well. And they were part of the ongoing saga that we had with getting the bill done, and we all figured out how to work together after a fashion.

So, with that, you have a lot of other people to listen to. So, Frank, congratulations. Great job. And I am just pleased to be here to recognize that and be part of this ceremony.

[Applause.]

Mr. DUNLAP. I was going to try to start going through the delegation, but I can't see around the room; there are so many people here. So we are just going to say that—I know the Oklahoma Delegation is here, and Frank is very honored that you would take time to make sure that you are part of this ceremony also.

When I met Frank, we were deskmates, and 5½ years later a special election came open in Oklahoma. And for about 4 months, my job was to tell him to vote “yes” or “no” as he ran back onto the floor from raising money. And our districts are very different, and so I would have to tell him to vote “no” when I was voting green or vice versa. And he would look at me kind of funny, and I would say, “Just go do your job.”

And he came back on the floor one day, and he was coming up to Washington, D.C., for a fundraiser for himself that Mr. Gingrich was going to host. And I said, “Frank, I have known you 5½ years. I have never heard you talk about that great trip to Washington, D.C., and visiting the Lincoln Memorial and the great times that you had in Washington,” and this and that. He said, “I have never been there, Jim.”

I said, “You are a heartbeat away from being the next Congressman from Oklahoma.” And he goes, “Yes, and tonight is going to be—I am going to learn it all in one night and be ready to go.”

[Laughter.]

Mr. DUNLAP. I said, “Okay.” But, truly, that was who Frank was and is today. And I am very proud to still call him a very close friend.

The next person to make remarks will be the Majority Leader of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Honorable Kevin McCarthy. I hope he has walked in since I have been standing up here.

Not here yet. All right.

So, with that, unless I get the high sign I am in real trouble up here, I am going to ask—you all are being wonderful right now. We have a video that we would like to show, and it is a video of the farm bill. And you are going to have to be very quiet to be able to hear it because we are only doing as much sound on this as we can.

So, with that, we are ready to start the video.

[Applause.]

Mr. DUNLAP. And before we unveil the portrait, I would now like to ask the Honorable Kevin McCarthy, the Majority Leader of the U.S. House of Representatives, to come forward and make a few comments. Congressman?

[Applause.]

REMARKS OF THE HONORABLE KEVIN MCCARTHY

Mr. MCCARTHY. Thank you very much.

It was kind of interesting watching that and reliving that. There were some tough nights.

I will be very brief, but I want to give you a couple perspectives.

When I first came here as a freshman, I served on this Committee. One of the first things I did, I went to former Members and current Members that had been here a while, just to get their advice as a freshman. And it was interesting; I had no perspective on what advice they would give me, but you know the overwhelming advice when I asked who I should listen to? It all came back, "You should listen to Lucas."

He was going to sit in the back. And I had former Speakers tell me this: "He has been there longer than the others. He knows everything that is happening, and he understands it." I went to see him. I said, "I have to come see you. I have never met you before, but you are the number-one person everybody tells me I need to meet."

And the interesting thing about—we all wonder what someone's character is like. If you really want to see someone's character, give them adversity. And no one had a tougher adversity as my time as being whip as the farm bill.

And I remember that moment when the Ranking Member came over to tell us it was going to go down. And we looked it right in the eye, and Frank came back each time and said, "We can get this done." And no other Chairman has faced a tougher time.

But I have never heard you scream about it. And there were lots of times I saw that you would want to.

[Laughter.]

Mr. MCCARTHY. But he took adversity and showed the rest of the conference how to handle it. And he brought people that have never voted for a farm bill over to vote for a farm bill. And that was a tough time.

But when we think about leaders and we think about Chairmen, there is a reason why this man will have a portrait, but there is a reason why people will look up to this portrait. It is his character. It is his leadership. And just as Members told me who to go seek out, I think that will be the answer for a lot of freshman classes for here to come in the future.

So I thank you for your leadership, I thank you for your time. And I look forward to how good you look in the painting.

[Applause.]

Mr. DUNLAP. At this time, I would like to ask Ms. Lynda Lucas and Ms. Lauren McDaniel to come forward.

And the magic moment has arrived.

[Portrait unveiled.]

[Applause.]

Mr. DUNLAP. Ladies and gentlemen, it is a great honor for me to present a friend of 27 years, Frank Lucas.

[Applause.]

REMARKS OF THE HONORABLE FRANK D. LUCAS

Mr. LUCAS. My friends, thank you all for being here today, and thank you for help making this possible.

If you will look at a picture of me from perhaps 3 or so years ago, before the farm bill process—

[Laughter.]

Mr. LUCAS.—you might notice the hair is a little darker, you might notice a few less character lines in the face. But I would say this: Of all the challenges that I have been a part of in my life, most assuredly in the legislative process, the fact that we beat so many expectations, the fact that we did such good work, Senator and Senator—I would also note to you, if you notice the enthusiastic look on Lauren McDaniel's face about pulling that string, that kind of describes Speaker Boehner voting for the farm bill.

[Laughter.]

Mr. LUCAS. But he knew then what needed to be done, just like Lauren. And thank you, Lauren. He, too, did what needed to be done.

I have always said that I am a product of my background, of my heritage, of my community, of my region. And I have always said that the farm bill process, with its impact on rural America, is just too important to not get right.

My family, my district, my area went through the abyss of the Great Depression and the Dust Bowl of the 1930s, the horrible drought through the 1950s, the economic near-depression in rural America of the early 1980s. And, yes, the last 5 years have been an amazingly dry period in the Southwest.

I have always said that I cannot address Mother Nature and the yield that Mother Nature brings upon us; you will have to talk to the Senators about that. But everything else—

[Laughter.]

Mr. LUCAS.—everything else, making sure that perhaps the Federal Government doesn't guarantee everything, contrary to my good friend John Boehner's concerns.

But the real purpose of the farm bill is to make sure that the Federal Government doesn't hurt people out in rural America, doesn't hurt farmers and ranchers, doesn't inhibit the ability of them to do their work, to feed and clothe us and the rest of the world. And that is what my perspective about a farm bill is.

Well, I would be remiss if I didn't say thank you to Mr. Peterson. What a challenge. What a challenge. Or, in all fairness, to the Majority floor leader. As Whip, one of my greatest allies in this struggle. One of my greatest allies in this struggle as we put the votes together.

But, then, everyone in this room had a factor, a part, a piece in that, whether it was my family that tolerated me, the loyal staff in the personal office or in the Committee that tolerated me, my colleagues who served with me, all of you who are in this room trying to represent a perspective back home, trying to make sure that we have an understanding of what we are doing in this body. Thank you all for that help.

Uncle—and he doesn't like that at all, but I cannot help but call the Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee “uncle.”

[Laughter.]

Mr. LUCAS. When he came to Oklahoma in 1994 and took me by the hand in a special election——

Senator ROBERTS. Godfather.

[Laughter.]

Mr. LUCAS. Yes, he took me by the hand, he didn't quite warn me as to what all would be coming somewhere down the road. Although that 1996 Farm Bill was a little bit of a challenge, a little bit of a challenge——

Senator ROBERTS. About a year and a half.

Mr. LUCAS. About a year and a half. But it got done. It got done.

And Mr. Conaway has the challenge, working with Mr. Peterson, of preparing to do all this again very shortly. The year and a half, almost 2 years, the 2½ years on this last one—truly, Mike, maybe you should have started the markup yesterday.

[Laughter.]

Mr. LUCAS. Maybe you should have.

But, again, my friends, I said on the floor and I will conclude by saying this: There is a perspective in the outside world that Congress is a broken institution, that we are dysfunctional, all sorts of horrible stuff. I know that is not true. I know I serve with and you work with some of the best people in the world, some of the most sincere folks. Perhaps a few of our colleagues might not have as clear an understanding as we do, say, in rural America, but nonetheless sincere.

And if every committee could be like the Agriculture Committee, working for that common good, fighting by commodity groups, fighting by region, but ultimately for the common good, then this would be a better place, and the country would move forward.

I will now join the group of former Chairmen and give the great deal of benefit of advice to Mr. Conaway as we work through this next process: Never stop whispering in Mr. Peterson's ear. But, again, together, we will work to do the right things for the right reasons.

And thank you all for coming.

I would note that there are two rather substantial assortments of natural, organic, health food drinks on both ends of the balcony out there——

[Laughter.]

Mr. LUCAS.—some of the most wonderful calories in the world on this table. Let's enjoy a good time. Let's enjoy in the next few hours as much fun and good fellowship as, shall we say, I created gray hair over the last 2½ years of the farm bill.

Again, thank you very much.

[Applause.]

[Whereupon, at 5:27 p.m., the ceremony was concluded.]
